EXPERIMENT OF GALVANISM—PERFECTLY

SHOCKING.—A poor man on crutches recently went to Mr. Gore, at the Mansion House, and asked for relief. He said he had fallen from a scaffold and broken three of his limbs, and had been discharged only that morning from the infirmary of the East London Union. Mr. Gore was very kind to him, gave him an order for re-admission to the Union, sixpence for his omnibus fare, and a shilling to get his dinner with.

The poor man limped out of the room, and had no sooner left it than he complained of a pain in his inside; an officer got him a little brandy, and he left the Mansion House, a minute after he was found writhing on the ground in front of the European Tavern. It was now evidently a case of life or death; he was at once put into a cab, and driven to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, in charge of an officer. On the way he gave three convulsive gasps, and stretched himself out for the last time.

The policeman's reflections were very painful; he was in the presence of death, shut up in the narrow confines of a public vehicle, with one of the brave warriors of the army of labor, who had fallen at his post.

The poor fellow was not yet dead, for when they arrived at the door of the hospital he gave three more convulsive gasps, and closed his eyes.

"I am afraid he's gone now, sir," said the officer to the surgeon. "I think not," said the surgeon, quietly, "take him in the house."

The physician was fetched, there a galvanic battery was suddenly applied to the prostrate form, which had previously been strapped fast to a stretchers. The effect was magical; the dead man started up as well as his bonds would permit him, and roared for mercy with the greatest volubility. They untied him, and then he suddenly fell weak again, and found a difficulty in putting on his clothes. "Give him another shock," said the surgeon. In less than two minutes he was dressed, and in spite of his broken ribs and his shaking limbs, he was running out of the hospital, and into the street with the speed of the reindeer. He had forgotten his crutches, and the officer ran after him to tell him so, and was fortunate enough to overtake him. It was thought that such a remarkable example of the curative properties of galvanism ought to be known at the Mansion House, and the convalescent was asked to step back and see the Lord Mayor; and the Lord Mayor feeling that all the honest fellow needed was gentle exercise, regular meals, and early hours for rising and retiring to rest, sent him to hard labor in the House of Correction for twenty-one days.—London Star.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.—The London

correspondent of the N. Y. Times, writing on the 18th of April, says:

The Prince of Wales is in Ireland, and I hear from pretty good sources—sources that I venture to say you may trust more than the accounts of the "special correspondent" in the newspapers—that his reception has been an exceedingly cold one. Had he gone to Ireland without the Princess, it might not have been possible for even the most courtly correspondent to have glossed over the true feeling of the Irish people. But there can be no doubt that the presence of the Princess, (still weak in health, poor lady!) has evoked all the nobler instincts of the Irish nation, and all welcomes which the Prince has received he owes to her. The Prince wears a green scarf wherever he goes, and a bunch of shamrocks in his button-hole—and it is expected that the Irish will be so flattered by this condescension as to forget all their grievances and bury all their animosities.

The Times improves the occasion by putting forth a "feeler" with reference to an increase in the Prince of Wales's salary. That he is heavily in debt is well known; and the Times, in a letter signed "Radical," was transparent of "dodges" ever yet tried in newspaper—asks the English people to increase his allowance. It is said that the Prince holds leave for the Queen, his income is no longer sufficient for his needs. Cannot this affair be arranged between the Queen and the Prince? If he does her Majesty's work, ought he not to receive part of the pay which the nation gives to her Majesty for doing that work herself? This is a blunt way of putting the matter, no doubt—but depend upon it, I have correctly indicated the line which the public mind will take. The English people think they are doing very well for the royal family as it is. Every child as it grows up must be duly portioned or made provision for—and how many children are there now? They are as the sands on the sea-shore. If the proposal to give the Prince of Wales £10,000 or £20,000 more a year were brought forward now, I am afraid the result would not be satisfactory to the Prince.

Mr. Disraeli, however, has the pluck to do it—and, certainly, if the Queen is to stand by him on all occasions, he ought to make some return for the favor.

A VIRGINIA RACEHORSE CATCHES A DEER.

—Mr. Wm. Pettitt, manager on the Roe Farm Estate, opposite Sandy Point, on the James river, was in the early part of last week returning home. He was riding a fine blooded mare well-known for fleetness even in Virginia, and the land of racehorses.

On his way he saw a buck grazing in a field not very far from the roadside, and immediately started in pursuit. The chase was a most exciting one and was continued for several miles.

At last the deer approached a ravine and jumped across; when the mare jumped it immediately afterwards and landed on the opposite side on the deer's back. Mr. Pettitt, then sitting on his mare, and on the deer's throat.

This is a remarkable story, but is true; one of the gentlemen of this city is our informant, who knows all the facts, and who ate a piece of the venison obtained in this very singular manner.—Notfolk Journal.

Several of the South-hatting Radical journals are busily engaged in trying to prevent immigrants from coming South.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR. Its Causes, Character, Conduct and Results. By HON. ALEX. H. STEPHENS. A BOOK FOR ALL AMERICANS AND ALL PARTIES.

This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the Causes of the War; published and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with apparently similar productions, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has at last found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The interested desire everywhere manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.

One in Memphis, Tenn., 103 subscribers in five days.

Send for Circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with Press notices of advance sheets, &c. Address

RODONDA ISLAND GUANO.

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST FERTILIZER IN THE COUNTRY.

"The Rodonda" is a Pure Natural Guano—no "mixture" or "impure" Guano. It is one hundred per cent cheaper in price than any fertilizer in the market, and nearly two hundred per cent cheaper than Peruvian Guano.

The results of Rodonda Guano, in the sale of upwards of 8,000 tons in this country during the past twelve months, is attested by numerous testimonials of many of the most intelligent and practical farmers of Maryland and Virginia, showing that it is superior to many of the fertilizers now offered for sale, and equal to any "costing double the money."

This Guano is inspected, analyzed and weighed by the Maryland State Guano Inspector.

I invite attention to the numerous analyses and certificates of "Rodonda," at my counting room, No. 18, Union Wharf.
